

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

Emerging Author Leigh Green Published a Collection of Narrative Stories Titled Lobster Cake and Other Stories at Smashwords.com

Now Available for Review

Bellevue, WA, US - February 19th, 2017 – Leigh Green has published a collection of flash fiction with a heavy emphasis on narrative and human interaction on Smashwords.com for $99.99. The book will be available for a short time only.

Lobster Cake and Other Stories is a short collection of tales relating to the human condition. From arguments to the intimate knowledge couples have between one another, it showcases the variety of ways we interact with those in the world around us. Though only four tales are offered, they provide a broad realm of emotions and relationships.

In the first story, “The Argument”, we get a glimpse into the heart of the only believer in a failed marriage as she hears the words that remove any lingering doubt that there’s still hope. In contrast, there is the eponymous “Lobster Cake”, in which Jackson has high hopes for the meal to be served at his wedding reception. In spite, that is, of the budget that his fiancée Melanie has set.

While a wholly different tone, “Cocaine and Keytars” still showcases relationships in a retelling of the Norse myth of Thyrn’s theft of Mjolnir set amid the 80’s electronica club scene. In the last story, three individuals work together on the arduous trek to safety. Set in a post-apocalyptic landscape, “To the Brotherhood” shows how close people can become when they must rely on one another to survive.

Leigh Green is a tech lead and community manager in the gaming industry with over a decade of experience in the IT world. She is a sci-fi and fantasy writer and has flash fiction published in the 'zine Fissure. Currently she is completing a BFA in Creative Writing with Full Sail University. A fan of DIY, she loves to start new knitting projects, but rarely remembers to finish them.
